DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it contains legal phrasology (i.e., “means”). Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-14 and 16-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 1, the phrase “or the like” renders the claims indefinite because the claim includes elements not actually disclosed (those encompassed by “or the like”), thereby rendering the scope of the claims unascertainable. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Claim 3 recites the limitation “the diagonal bracing” in line 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Regarding the term “barrier means” as used throughout the claims, this is an improper means plus function recitation. The examiner suggests deleting the term “means.” Similarly, the “cantilevered means” in claim 7 is an improper means plus function recitation.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Wen (U.S. Patent 5,170,585).

Wen discloses a gate system including a lower elongated structure (lower box structure 11) and an upper barrier (vertically extending gate). Two spaced reinforcing means (unlabeled end wall portions) partially overlap end portions of the elongated structure (Figure 2, for example).

Claims 1 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Butler (U.S. Patent 5,035,082).

Wen discloses a gate system including a lower elongated structure (243) and an upper barrier (102). Two spaced reinforcing means (108, 110) partially overlap end portions of the elongated structure (Figure 7, for example).

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gorlov (U.S. Patent 4,818,137).

Gorlov discloses a gate system including a lower elongated structure (bottom rail of gate 12) and an upper barrier (top rail of gate 12). Two spaced reinforcing means (upper and lower portions of 50) partially overlap (in the vehicular forward direction) end portions of the elongated structure (Figure 2, for example).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3-6 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wen, as applied above.

Wen includes bracing, but it is not diagonal. It is well known to use diagonal bracing (trusses, for example) in order to increase structural strength. For this reason, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have used diagonal bracing with Wen.

It is well known to use I beams in order to increase structural strength. For this reason, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have used I beams with Wen.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 8-14 and 16-19 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejections under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
